Introduction - - -

This Kingsley Genealogy contains the names of over 700 people and required many letters of correspondence over a period of two years to compile. I wish to express my appreciation to the many cousins for their cooperation and effort in answering my letters of inquiry. I hope you will take care of this copy, refer to it for questions on family relationships and ancestors and keep your family record up to date. If you know of any additions or corrections to this genealogy, or if you have any questions about it, please feel free to write to me.

The proud old name of Kingsley can be traced back for hundreds of years to the age of romance and chivalry when the Normans were struggling for permanent supremacy in Great Britain.

The story surrounding the origin of the name tells how William II, lost while hunting in a vast forest, was most courteously sheltered and attended by a yeoman through the night. For this act of kindness the King thought the forester should be suitably rewarded. He disclosed his identity and created the man a knight with the rank of baron, conferring upon him a grant of land consisting of a vast number of acres known as "the King's lea," or simply the King's meadow. The new lord of this estate adopted the name of his manor and became known as Kyngesleigh. The name of Kingsley has been a distinguished one in England ever since and the family produced many eminent men and women. Charles Kingsley, Canon of Westminster Abbey, was an outstanding representative of the name.

John and Stephen Kingsley were the founders of the family in America. They arrived in the New World but a short time after the landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth, and first settled in Braintree, Mass. They were among the pioneers who reclaimed the wilderness and their names are among the founders of a number of New England towns.

There are representatives of this ancient and honorable name now living in various parts of the country, who can trace their lineage to these two sons of England's distinguished family.

RANULPH DE KYNGESLEGH

(The following information is from the Media Research Bureau. This Ranulph de Kyngeslegh may be the same person mentioned on the previous page as receiving a grant of land from the king and possibly is the beginning of the name. "de" means "of the", "Kynges" means "King's" and "legh" is meadow or forrest. Although I cannot connect this information with our lineage, one of you may, in the future, be interested in searching records and genealogies to extend our direct lineage from John back to this Ranulph. - - by W. * - Our lineage

JOHN KINGSLEY (Immigrant)

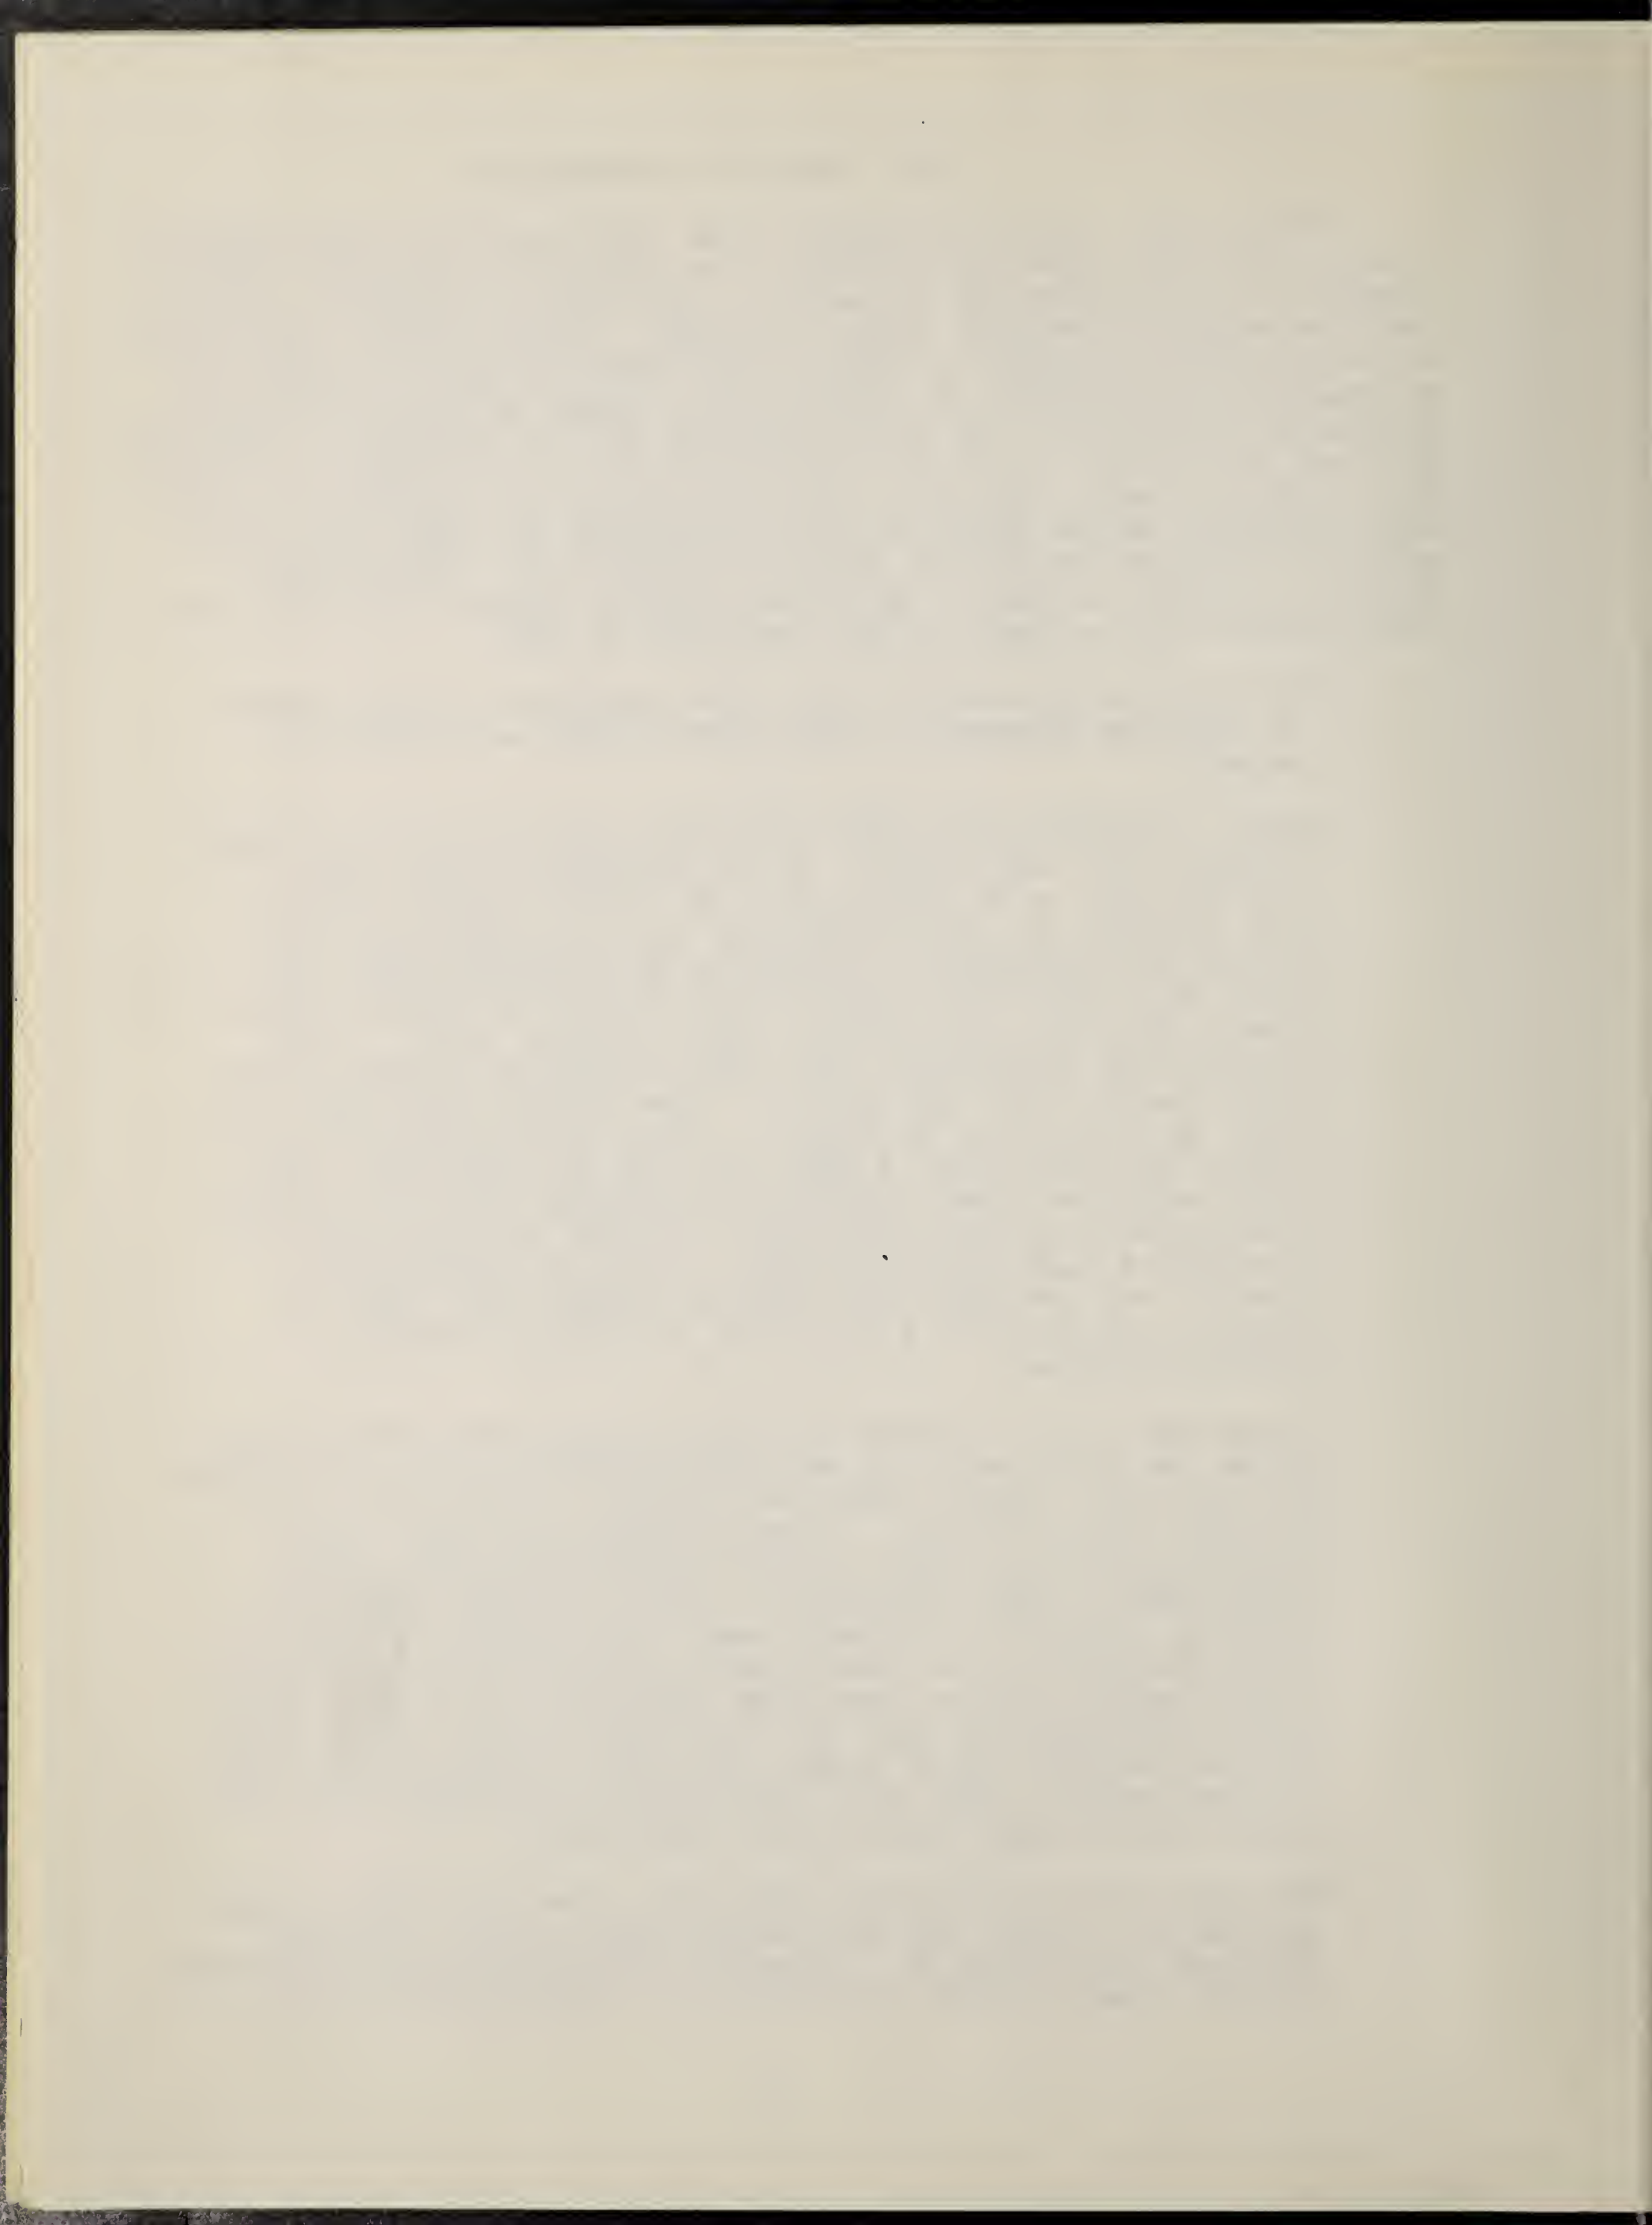

Historical records indicate that our branch of the Kingsley family may have come from Clovelly in southern England. Direct lineage of our ancestors go back to John Kingsley who arrived in America sometime between 1630 and 1632. He was made a "freeman" in Dorchester on March 4, 1632. This John Kingsley signed the covenant of the Church of Dorchester on Aug. 23, 1636 and was spoken of as "one of the Seven Pillars of the Dorchester Church". He died in 1678 or 1679. To show some of the hardships to which our ancestors were subjected, the following is a letter which John Kingsley wrote after he and his family and the whole community of Swansea suffered from an Indian raid. The letter follows without change of spelling and may cause difficulty in interpretation; as Paul is Pale and Job is Iob.

"For his much honered frend the preacher of the Gospel at Harford Connecot, there with speed as concernes maney.

"Ser, I sallvte you with all that cal on the Lord J<sup>h</sup>esus, thayer Lord and owers. I did despach a few lines to New Noriage & so to you and the rest on your river, but fearing it should not com to your hand and those which it concernes. I nowe in my sicknes that the Lord hath laid on vs as he did on Iob--I am now in a fever or ague, yet I doe judge I folow Pale. I can truely say that since our wares begun my flesh is gon with feare, care and grife & now sicknes, my skin is redy to cleave to my bones. Now being unknown to you beloe on the river, I saw I am the one man and onely left of those that gathered the Church that is now in Dorchester, yet of late have I lived at Rehoboth and Seconke & hath sufered deepe, with my neighbourse. Now to tel you what wee have & how wee are like to suffer, my hart will not hold to write & sheetes would contayne.

"I am not able to beare the stories of ovr woeful day, when the Lord made ovr wolfish heathen to be ovr lordes, to fier our towne, shout and holow, to cal us to com out of our garisones. Some did goe out alive with sucse; but had not ovr God restrayned them, they were enow to have swaloed vs all vp. They burnt our milles, brake the stones, yea, our grinding stones; & what was hid in the earth they found, corne and fowles, kiled catil & tooke the hind quarters & left the rest, yea, all that day that the Lord gave lisons they burnt cartes wheles, drive away our catel, shipe, horses, in a word had not the Lord restrayned they would not have left won to have told of our woful day.

"We lost but on siley man that day. We are shut in our garisones & dare not goe abroad far to our outlandes without som strength. Some of our souldiers are removed. Nobody comes to say, how doe ye. Counsel from Bost. &

Plimoth was to stay oneles all had gone that could & left the rest to perish, yet now every rod of ground near garison is broaken up & where house & barne stood now put in beanes & squashes; but alase, what wil doe against famin!

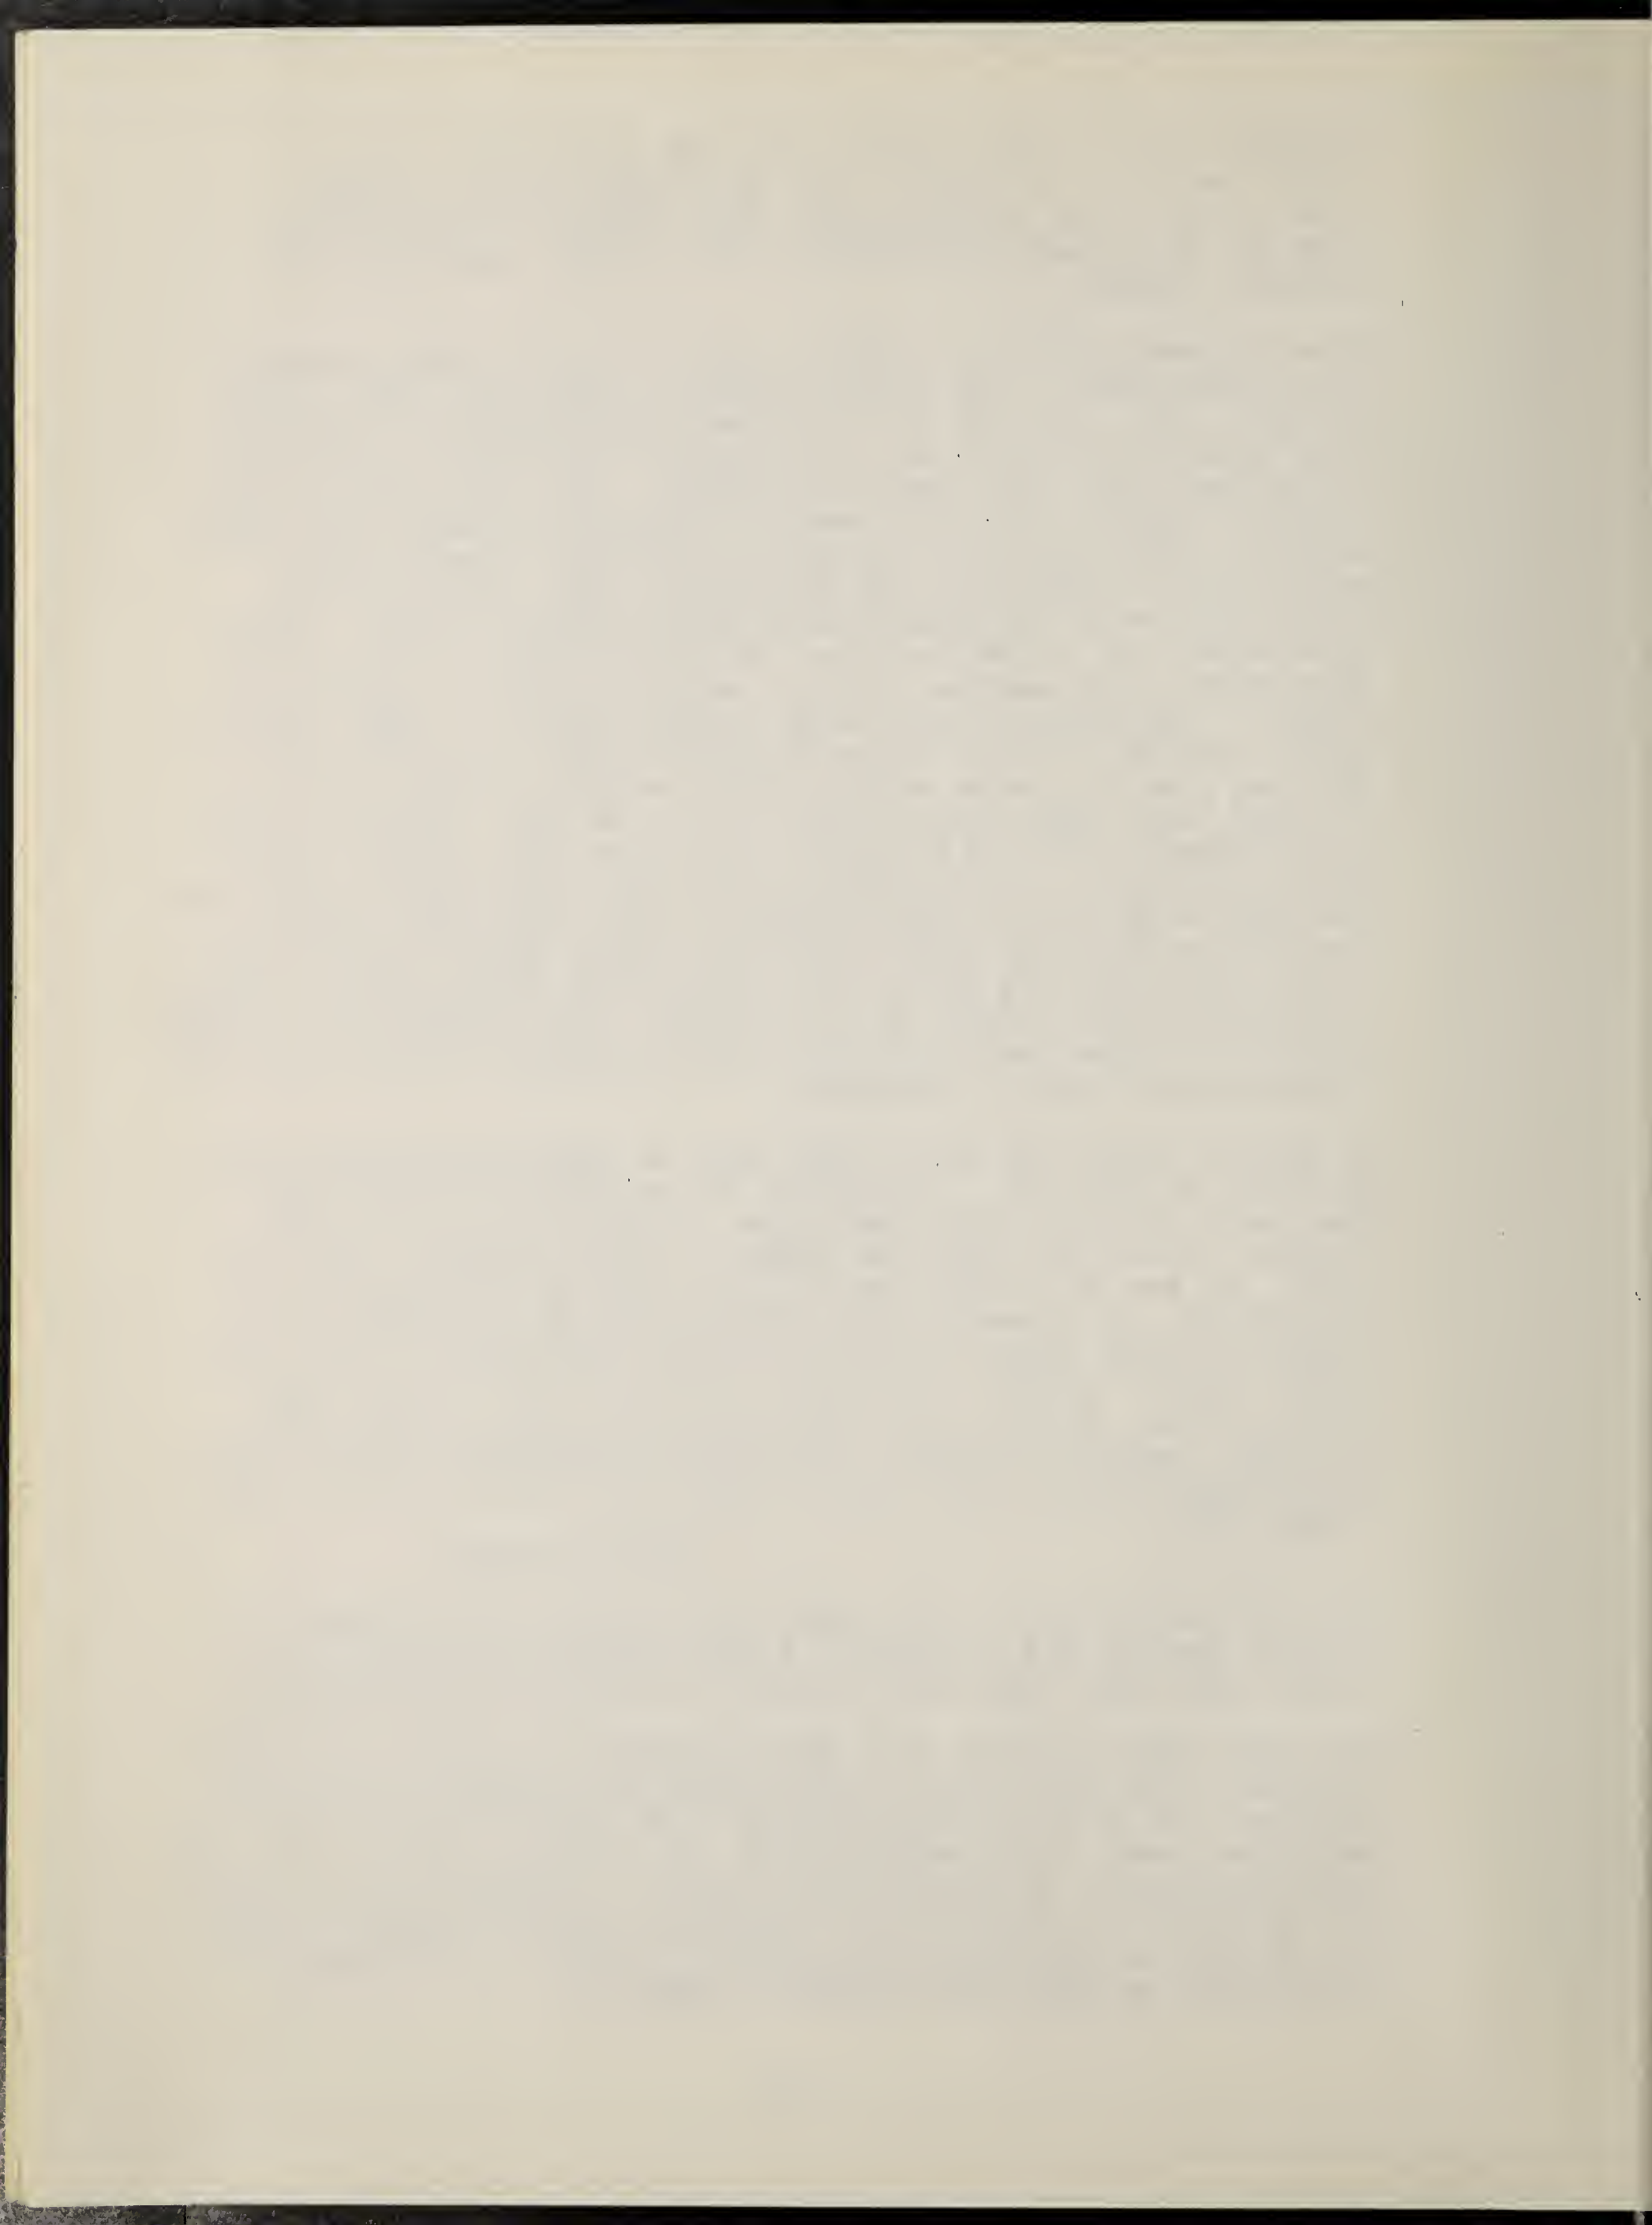

"Now to leave all ovr danger, fear of sord, famin stares vs in the face. Now to my comfort I hear you have store of corn, ye, tho you doe not sow in som years. Now misery cales for mersey but I consave is distres. The truth is my hart will not beare to write. Ah, the burden that I beare night & day, to see the blessed & loving God thus angry & wee have not a Profet to tel how longe, and to say this or these are New Englandes sinn. For general sin cals vsely for generall plague, which is now. Deare bretheren, if there be power in your hanges, doe not say, goe away, come agayne. It is betur to die by sord than famen. Therefore i beg in my Lordes name, to send vs som meal; for if we send to Road Island there is one wolff in the way, he wil have money, which won of 40 hath not it to pay, tho they starve; yes, for 1 sh for 1 bushel caing & bringing. There is another, that is the miller & hee take an 8 part. O New Ingl., when wilt thou leave apresing. It may be in som of your mindes to say, why doe not the hed men write, but onley this ould pore man. I say onely I wil lay a mantel on my shoulder & goe pakswardes. There is but too tha knowes of my writing, and the won descoriged me; but I know how earnest Pal beged prayeres that which he cales grase might be expected.

"I pray if this com in to the hand of aney that feare God, doe not stifel it. but impart it to others, that those who have a wiling mind may have a hand to save vs from famen. I doe not beg for money to bild houses. Ah, noe, noe. If any will send meale pray let deacon Walker distribit it. I knowe no man like minded It would be a dishoner to such people as you, to vse argements to stir you vp to such a works. I leave this & you all to the good hand of God, throw Jesus Christ, who is the define head of that blessed Covenant of Grace & fountayne of all good. Bere with writing, who came of my sicke bed to 4 or 4 of 3 mon 1676.

John Kingsley

"If any that here or rede this will trvst me won barel of indian meal & won of wheat, I doe promise to pay, I or mine, when the Lord shall tvrn to his people with peace.

"If aney know or here that Enos Kingsley be alive at Northampton, lett know that I his father am alive tho with no shelter for my gray head, onely with won swine God left me when hee sent our enemyes to be ovr lordes, and blessed be his holy name; hee gave & hee tooke. I prayed sevn yeares to be fited to sufer comon calamity; so the thing I feared is com on me; but alas I am redey to fant in the day of adversetey & show my strengt is smal."

MOSES KINGSLEY

Moses Kingsley, son of Moses and Mary Kingsley, was born March 5th, 1810 at Brighton, Mass. a suburb of Boston. After twenty years of an uneventful life, the young man started out to earn his own livelihood and make his mark in the world. He came west, stopping one year at Rochester, N. Y., and in 1830 started for the new, and at that time sparsely settled territory of Michigan, traveling nearly all of the way on foot, there being no railroads at that time coming west. At times he carried his shoes in his hands to save them from wearing out. After a tedious journey he found himself in Washtenaw County, with just ninety cents in old English coppers for a capital upon which to commence life. Taking up the trade of cabinet maker he soon prospered, and Dec. 18, 1831, he was joined in marriage to Hannah Williams.

In 1833 he assisted in organizing the township of Webster, and at the first township election was unanimously chosen clerk and a school inspector.

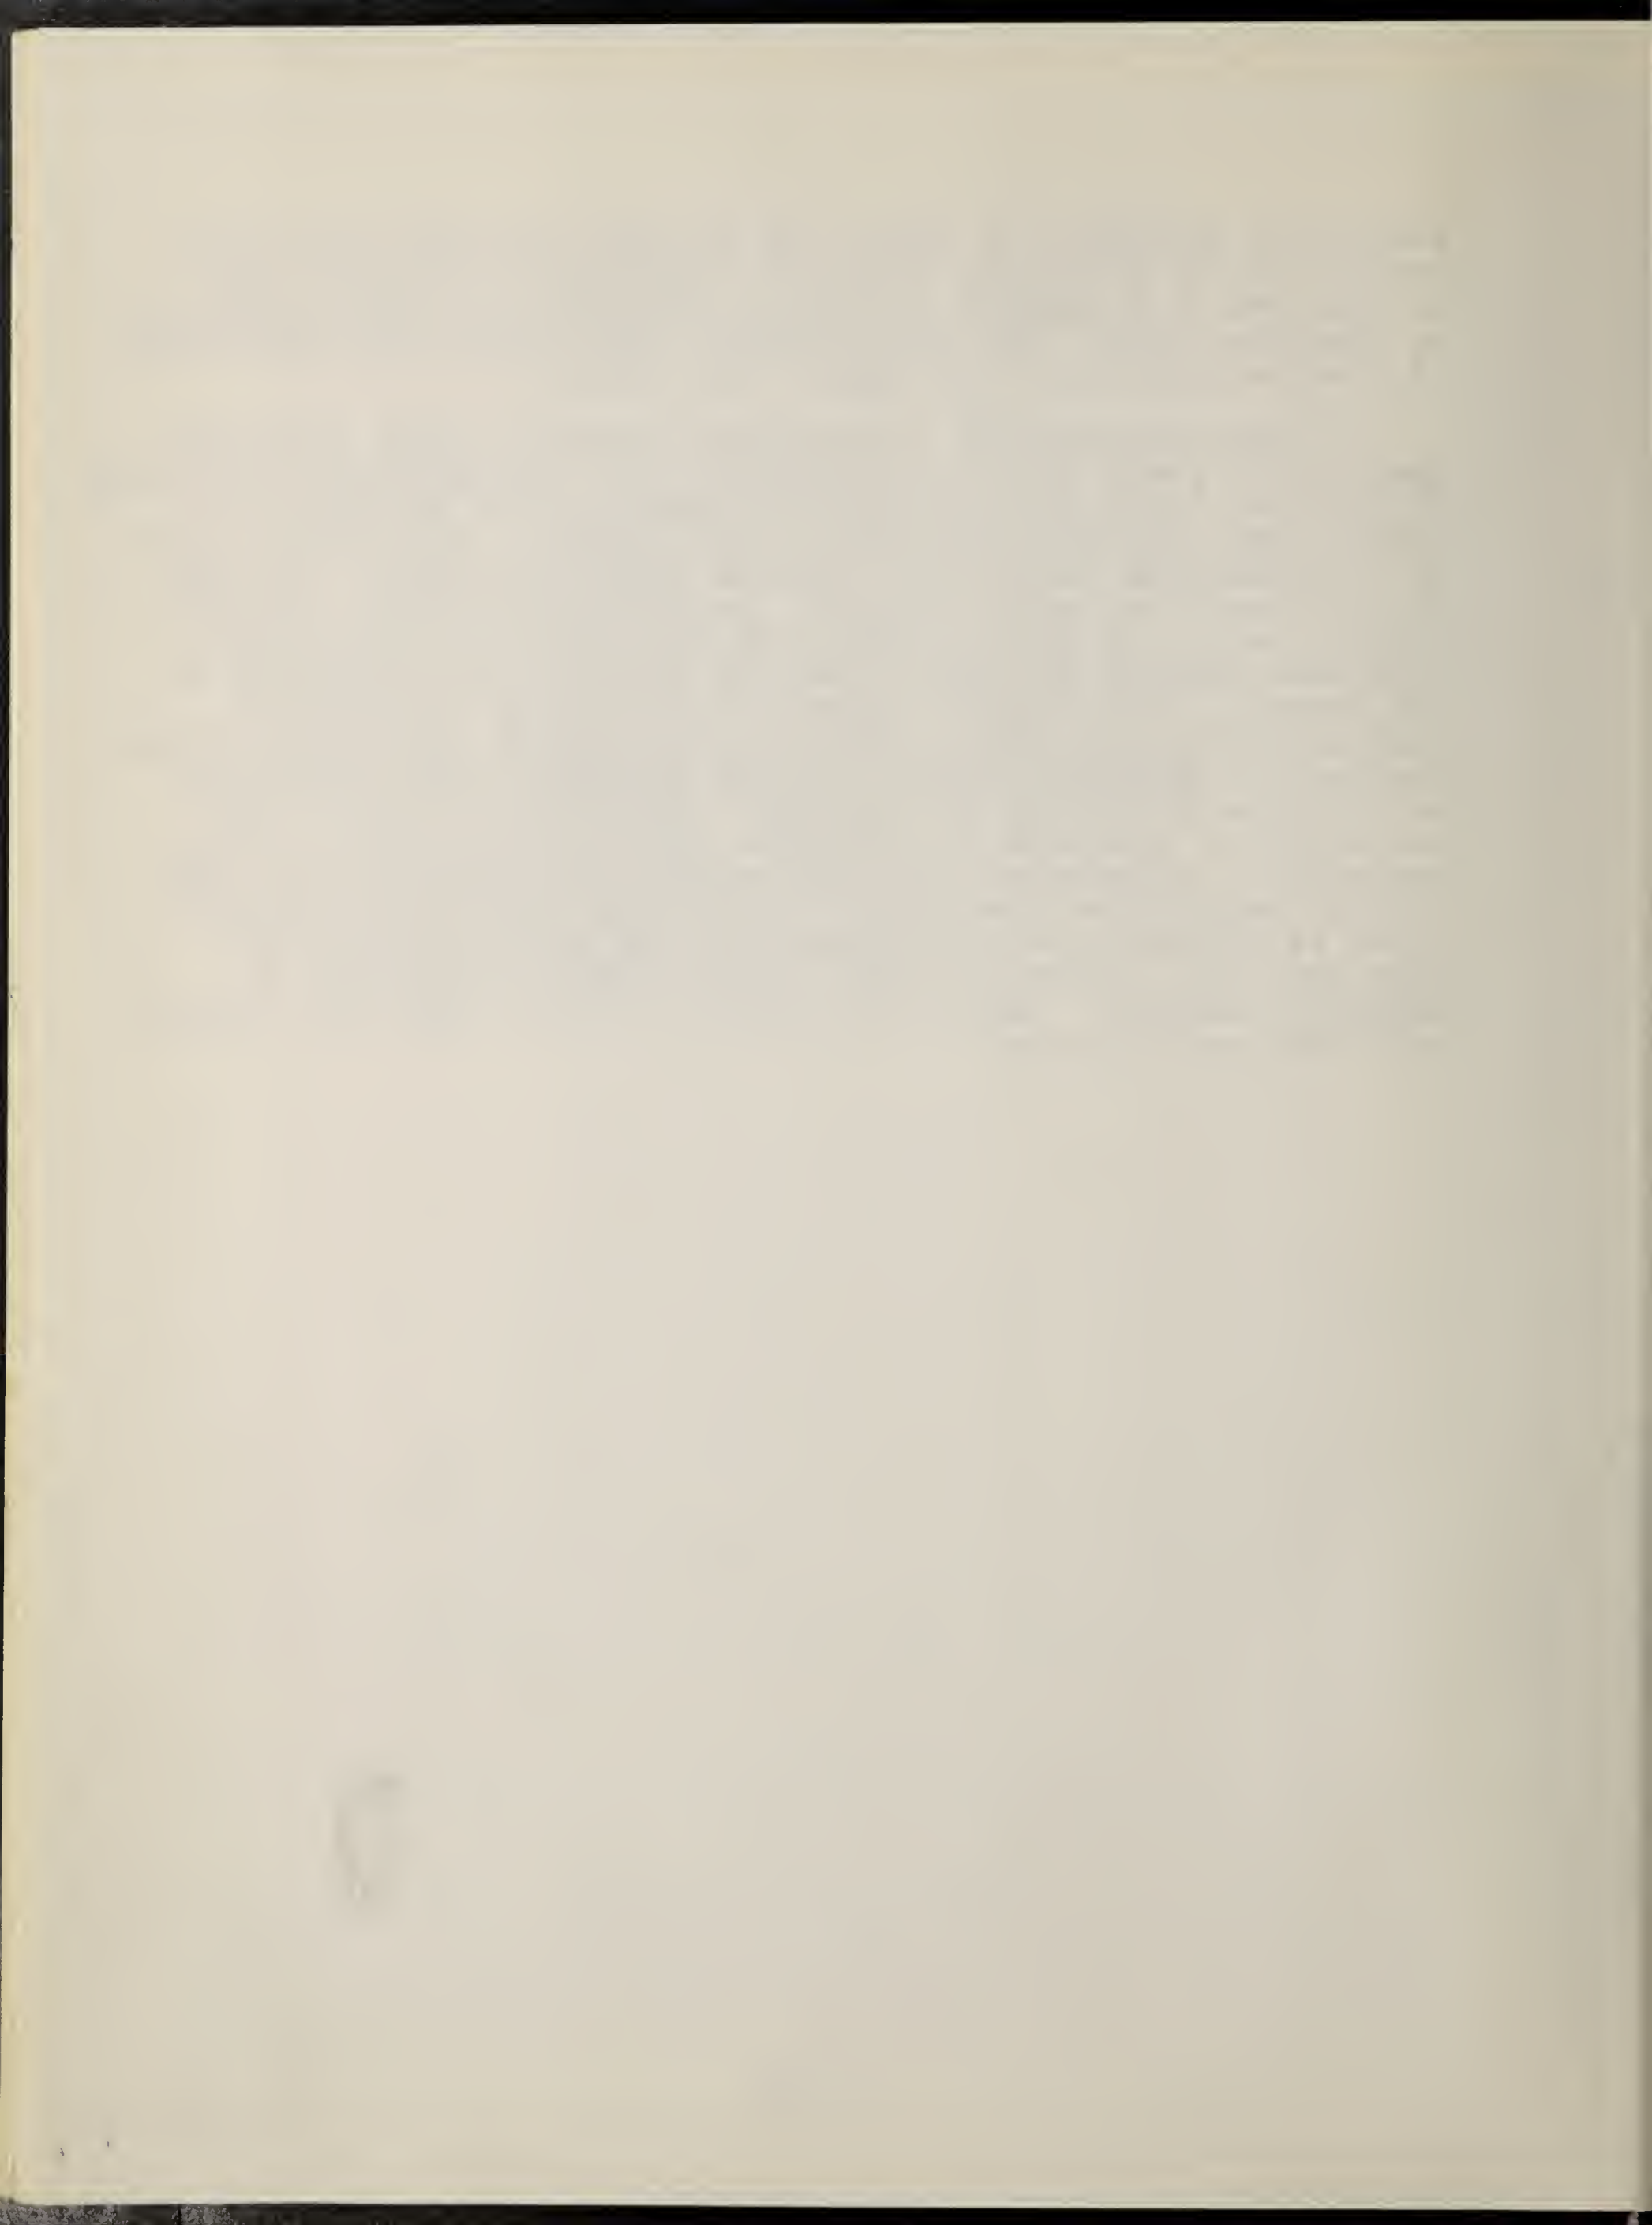

In 1834 he was appointed postmaster and mail carrier between Dexter and Ann Arbor; a distance of 14 miles. About this time he was sent east to solicit funds for erecting a church and among others called on Daniel Webster and received a liberal subscription toward the fund. January 3, 1837 Mr. and Mrs. Kingsley removed to Kalamazoo in wagons and brought with them one child, Daniel Webster Kingsley. The elder Kingsley purchased a farm on the town line between Oshtemo and Kalamazoo. A child was born to them soon after, and died in April, this being the first death of a white person in that part of the country.

In 1840 he assisted in building a private school which was used for 25 years when it was replaced by a new building. Residing on the farm until 1874, he tired of country life and moved his family into the city, residing on Vine street. In 1863 he assisted in organizing the Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company, and was elected secretary and treasurer. He continued in this capacity for 21 years. In 1874 he organized the Citizens' Mutual Fire Insurance Company and until 1888 was secretary and treasurer of the company, resigning on account of ill health. During his business career he became personally acquainted with nearly every resident of Kalamazoo County and was considered good authority on subjects of history in Michigan. September 4, 1889 he was the victim of a stroke of paralysis, from which he never fully recovered. On December 28, 1890 he was again stricken down and did not rally after that day. In 1844 his first wife died and later he married Clarissa Beckley, living happily until 1879 when she died. March 5, 1880, he was joined in marriage to Amanda M. Gardner. During his married life his home was blessed with thirteen children.

The first part of the paper discusses the importance of the study of the history of the United States. It is argued that a knowledge of the past is essential for a full understanding of the present. The author then goes on to discuss the various factors which have shaped the development of the United States, including the influence of the British, the Spanish, and the French. He also discusses the role of the American people in the creation of the nation. The paper concludes by stating that the study of the history of the United States is a task of great importance, and that it is one which should be undertaken by all who are interested in the future of the country.
